LEXINGTON Oil Floor-Cloth Factory. MESSRS. LEVETT & SMITH have commenced manufacturing the Oil Floor-Cloths for rooms, passages, stairs, carriages, &c.

This manufactory, so essential to the interest and comfort of the citizens of the western states, they have no doubt will meet the approbation and encouragement of every true lo-er of his country.

These carpets are of the most durable and elegant kind, uniting every advantage. They be imported into the western states, and as elegant; therefore they hope, that patriotic zeal which is so predominant in Kentucky will be the means of establishing a manufactory so desiremedies become more generally used, rable, and of such utility, on such a foundation and acquire a daily accession of deserved as will in this particular make the western states independant of all other American or European markets.

Another benefit arising from an establishment of this kind is, that the consumption of cloth used for this purpose will increase the sales of hemp, so that it will be an advantage to the farmers and manufacturers of that article as well as to the proprietors of this factory.

The beauty and durability of these carpets have brought them much into use in the north ern, eastern and southern states-where they are highly approved of for rooms, entries, carriages &c. They are cool in summer, and most useful in winter, because they can be cleaned in long spells of rainy weather by washing them as you would the floor, whereas woolen carpets must remain wet and dirty during the bad weather—which not only dawners the carret bettier. which not only damages the carpet, but is very njurious to the health of the family. The pries of carpets are as follows :-

nomical carpet. TERMS.

All carpets delivered, cash on delivery; or a negotiable note in the Kentucky Insurance Bank, or the Kentucky Branch Bank. Carpets made to fit recesses or of peculiar form, one half cash in advance with written directions.

As these carpets require a considerable time to harden properly, those who wish to have them will be pleased to make application immediately as Messrs. Levett and Smith cannot do justice to themselves or purchasers by delivering a carpet in less time than nine or ten weeks. The time may appear long and tedious to many, but we can prove to our friends by referring to a Baltimore advertisement from a factor; established there that they grant by mark to prove the second state. lished there, that they cannot be made perfect in less time than we have observed.—Carpets to go by extensive land or water carriage will require PARTICULARS Of the Religious ceremony of the Marriage of Bonaparte, Sunday, April 1.

In the chapel of the Louvre, where the ceremony' was performed, an estrade surfrom the altar were placed two chairs of state, with a praying desk, for their Imperial Majesties. In two chandeliers close to the altar were put two wax candles, each of them incrusting twenty pieces of of gold and the marriage ring, was laid on the altar. At the bottom of the steps were two cushions for their Imperial Majesties, and at the top three chairs for the officiating Grand Almoner and his two as-sistant Bishops. The Cardinals were seat-ed to the right of the altar, and the Bishops to the left. The Prince Grand Dignitaries, &c. wer stationed, as in the civil ceremony, according to their respective degrees of rank and precedence.
The Cardinal Grand Almoner of France

his assistant, the Grand Almoner of Italy. and the body of Clergy, received the im-perial pair at the door of the Chapel, and presented them with the censor and holy water. Their majesties and the whole of the procession having taken their places, the officiating Grand Almoner ordered the Veni creator to be chanted, all present being on their knees. At the conclusion of the first verse the Grand Almoner proceeded to the highest step of the sanctuary, and standing with his face to the altar, pronounced a benediction on the thirty pieces of gold and the ring.

This part of the ceremony being completed, the grand master of the ceremonies made a bow to the emperor and empress, who taking off their gloves, advanced to the foot of the altar, and there taking each other by the right hand were thus addressed by the Grand Almoner.

" Sire, you declare, that you acknowledge, and you swear before God, and in the face of his holy church that you now take as your wife and lawful spouse, her imperial and royal highness, madame Maria Louisa, Archdutchess of Austria, here present."—The emperor answered, "Yes mise and swear to be faithful to her in all things, as a faithful spouse ought to be towards his spouse, according to the com-mandment of God."-The emperor answered, " Yes Sir."

The same form was gone through with respect to the empress; with this distinction only, that in compliment, no doubt, to her religious creed, the minister omitted in the question put to her, the word "acaddressing Napoleon, to denote the validity of the prior civil marriage, according to the modern code of France.

The minister then delivered the ring, and the pieces of gold, one by one, to the emperor, who presented the latter in like manner to the empress. By her they were transferred to a maid of honour, standing behind her, who finished this part of the scene by handing them to an assistant of of the ceremonies. The emperor then put the ring on the ring-finger of the empress's left hand, saying "I give you this ring in token of the marriage which we contract; and the minister making the sign of the cross upon the hand of the empress, pronounced them "man and wife together, in and continuing to hold each other by the right hand, the minister gave them the quesumus Domine &c.

the same as their offering to the grand Almoner.

High Mass was then performed, during which the happy couple took the sacrament, and were repeatedly perfumed with incense, and sprinkled with holy water. During the Propitiaire, the emperor and empress kneeled on the cushions placed for them at the foot of the altar, under a canopy of silver brocade, held over them by the archbishop of Rohan and the bishop of Versailles.

BONAPARTE'S MARRIAGE.

We have received Paris papers to the 5th and Dutch papers to the 7th inst. The Paris papers contain an account of the civil marriage of Bonaparte and the princess Maria Louisa, on the 1st of April. It was executed precisely according to the plan which has already appeared in this paper .-- "A most surprising circum-stance" say the Paris papers, "is, that, at St. Cloud, the weather was pretty fair, at the same time that in Paris the streets were inundated with an incessant torrent of rain. Fears were already entertained with regard to the festivity of the ensuing day; and we had already began to lament the loss of so many preparations in the and which was presented to Sir Francis capital to celebrate the most august of Burdett, by the high bailiff, pursuant to ceremonies, and the most memorable of events. - The star of the emperor once more prevailed over the equinoxtial gales -A the moment when the cannon announced the departure of his majesty, the sun dis. persed the clouds; and nothing was wanting to the splendor of the most delightful tete that we have ever beheld." The procession commenced at twelve o'clock, on the 1st. The emperor and empress reached the Thuilleries at two. The ceremony at the Chapel lasted nearly three returned to the Thurlleries at four.

Private accourts state, that at the relibearers of her majesty. After receiving and prosperity; and in an exact proportion to the congratulations of all ranks in Paris, Bonaparte and his wife sett off for St. Cloud on Wednesday last, where they were to remain a few days.

naparte and his imperial bride received the congratulations of the senate upon the happy occasion, in the usual style of fulsome adulation.

By information from a gentleman just arrived from France, we hear that a curious question was discussed by a Synod of Russel on the scaffold. Bishops on the occasion of the meeting between Bonaparte and the Austrian prinmounted by a canopy, was erected in front cess, at the town of Compergue on the of the altar. At the distance of 30 feet river Oise, 45 miles north-east of Paris. mon consent, and through an uncorrupt It was enquired of these prelates, assembled in the ecclesiastical court, if it were lawful, that Napoleon and Maria Louisa, who had been married by proxy at Vienna, could, consistent with the christian law, gold. A bason containing thirty pieces sleep beneath the same canopy? After a short consultation of these episcopal doc-trines, permission was given, and we are told that the religious scruples of the imperial maiden were by these venerable patriarchs happily removed .- [Fudge.]

> Letter to Sir Francis Burdett from his constituents assembled at Westminster.

Sir, We nominated you to be our representative without your knowledge, and we elected you without your interference We were confidentthat you would perform the duties of a representative with ability and fidelity. In every respect you have not only fulfilled, but exceeded our expectations. We derive the utmost satisfaction from having pointed out to the nation the way to be fairly represented; had t been possible that our example would have been followed, and a proper representation of the people thereby produced, the scenes that we have lately witnessed would not have disgraced ouncountry. We understood the nobleness of your mind, and were confident that you would not descend to barter your trust for a place under government, nor be the partisan or leader of those who support or reject measures just as they happen to be proposed when every excuse is made for public delinquents, that the utmost rigor is exercised against him who pleads for the ancient and constitutional rights of the people. You nobly stept forward in defence of a fellow subject, unjustly imprisoned, and you questioned with great ability & knowledge of the laws, the warrant issued upon that occasion; the House of commons have answered your argument, by breaking into your house with military force, seizing your person, and conveying you, by a large body of troops, to the tower. Your distinction between privilege and power remains unaltered; the privileges of the House of Commons are for the protection not for the destruction of the people. We have resolved to remonstrate with the knowledge' which he had introduced in House of Commons on the outrages committed under their order, and to call upon them to restore you to your seat in parlia ment, which the present state of the country renders more than ever necessary for the furtherance of your and our object, a reform in the representation in that House. While so many members are collected together by means, 'which it is not necessary for us to describe,' we cannot but entertain the greatest apprehensions for the remainder of our liberties, and the employment of a military force against one of their own body, is but a sad presage of what may be expected by those who might, ly perish. like you, have the courage to stand forward in defence of the rights of the people When we reflect on your generous exerthe name of the father and son and of the tions to destroy the horrors of secret and holy ghost."—The parties then kneeling solitary confinement, severity of funishsolitary confinement, severity of punishment in the army; to prevent the cashier ing of its officers without cause assigned; nuptial benediction by repeating the to restore for the comfort of the worn-out two prayers, Deus Abrabam, &c. and Res. soldier the public property conveyed by a job to a private individual; to prevent the The imperial pair then resumed their extension of the barrack system, the obrock; and, above all, your unremitted exertions to obtain a full, fair, and free representation of the people in Parliament. When we reflect on the firmness, the unshaken constancy which you have invariably shown 'in evil report and good report,' we are eager to express the sentiments of gratitude and attachment to you with which we are impressed; and we are convinced those sentiments are not only felt by the inhabitants of this city, but by every person throughout the land, who is not interested in the continuance of public abuses.'

From this foul and traitorous traffic, our orough monger sovereigns derive an immense revenue, cruelly wrung from the hard hand of honest labor. Salus populi supreme lex este.

Our external defence and security could not be satisfactorily established, while the provinces composing the department of Venezula united under the ancient system, did not form with the capital a confederation that would ensure respectability to the cause which we have undertaken; & with this view the Provincial government have chosen from among the natives, those characters best qualified by their knowledge, attachment, to the common cause & influence with the people, to discharge the public duties assigned to them, under the auspices of reciprocal beneficence and utili-ty; and by this means, we may promise ourselves that happy result of which it is

PROCLAMATION.

Inhabitants of the United Provinces of Venezula!-The Spanish nation, after two years of bloody war and the most violent struggle to defend its liberty and independence, is now on the eve of falling under the tyrannical yoke of its conquer-The passes of the Sierra Morena which defended the residence of the National sovereignty having been forced by the enemy, they have descended like an impetuous torrent on Andalusia and the other southern provinces of Spain, and are actually harrassing the rear of those few honest and worthy Patriots who precipitately flew for shelter under the walls of Cadiz.

The Supreme Central Junta which possessed the national authority, has been dissolved and dispersed, in consequence of so much turbulence and precipitation; and finally by that sad catastrophe, the overeignty of the nation, legally constituted for the general preservation of the state, has been thus destroyed. Under these embarrassing circumstances, the inhabitants of Cadiz, have organized a new system of government under the de-nomination of "Regency," which can have no other object than the temporary defence of those few Spaniards who had succeeded in escaping the yoke of the conqueror, and providing for their future safety, and consequently cannot be clothed with the general national power, much less that of those citizens who possess the legitimate and indispensible power of watching over their own preservation and security, as integral parts of the Spanish monarchy. And can you obtain so important an object by your dependence on a power in itselfillegal, fluctua-ting and agitated? Would it be prudent for you to neglect with indifference so precious an opportunity, flying after vain and flattering hopes, instead of hastening to constitute that union and force which alone can secure your political existence, and effect the liberation of our beloved Ferdinand the 7th, from his melancoly imprisonment?

Should we, by this means, in this de-lightful clime, perpetuate that august and holy religion received from our forefathers? No! beloved compatriots; the people of Caraccas, are well convinced of the necessity we have of agitating our cause with vigour and energy, if you wish to preserve so many and such invaluable ights; and with this view, after receiving the deplorable information of the unfortunate state of the war in Spain, by the late arrivals on our coast, it was determined to If he cannot feed himself to starve his neighform a provisional government in this bors. capital, as well for itself, as for all other parts of the province, which shall unite with their accustomed fidelity in favour of Ferdinand the Seventh, and the same was proclaimed and made public on the ering that, to which they are legally entitled—the appointment of their own guar19th of this present month, depositing the dians and trustees, for the protection of supreme authority in the most illustrious Council of this city and a number of Deputies that were named as associates, and together were especially charged to pro-mote and establish a plan of such adminisgeneral wishes of the people.

THE BLIND BOY. O say, what is that thing called LIGHT,

Which I can ne'er enjoy?
What are the blessings of the sight, O tell your poor blind boy You talk of wondrous things to see, You say the sun shines bright; I feel him warm—but how can he

E'er make it day or night ? My day or night, myself I make. Whene'er I slep or play; And could I always keep awake

It would be always day With heavy sighs I often hear, You mourn my haples woe; But sure with patience I may bear, A loss I never knew.

Then let not what I cannot have, My cheerfulness destroy; While thus I sing, I am a king, Although a poor blind boy.

UNBELIEF -- A STUBBORN SIN. Behold the man convinced of sin-No peace nor comfort can he find The law without and guilt within, Torment and rack his troubled mind.

He's told-the Saviour lives and dies, The chief of sinners to relieve; But still in unbelief he lies, Nor will the written word believe.

He's told-the Saviour ne'er casts out : And knows'tis dang'rous to delay; et all the while remains in doubt, And, though invited, stays away.

Tell him -the Saviour's words are true; With invitations crowdhis mind; Bring every promise to his view; He'll yet some difficulty find.

But, sinner, let it granted be,
That none have ever sinn'd like you;
Yet, while the promises are free, To COME is all you have to do.

And coming-should be you refuse. (Of which we hear not one complain) You'llbe the first these words to use-The Saviour may be so ught in vain.
